

ISSU
IRISH SECOND-LEVEL
STUDENTS' UNION

"If children are young enough to experience racism, then they are at the right age to learn about racism in school. Teachers have a duty of care to their students, and it is important they provide the correct information to students and to make sure that students are safe in school. Every school has an anti-bullying week, the curriculum must include tackling racism, homophobia and ableism."

Christine O'Mahoney -
LGBTQ+ Young Trailblazer Award winner

RACISM IN SCHOOLS SURVEY 2024 |

